Healthcare providers need tools that help improve productivity and the quality of patient care. With the iScribe Wireless Microphone application from nVoq™, you can leverage the time-savings benefits of speech recognition, using your iOS device as a wireless microphone (Android coming soon!). It enables you to work directly in your EMR with iScribe or dictate on the go.

Work Wirelessly in Your EMR

The need for expensive headsets or microphones is a thing of the past. Now you can use the iPhone you already carry with you to:

- Dictate directly into your EMR
- Navigate with shortcuts
- Use voice commands to insert commonly used text blocks, select items from dropdown menus and fill in data fields

Get more from your EMR with iScribe

iScribe is a cloud-based speech recognition solution that converts spoken words into text within seconds. Use it for free-form dictation, front-end transcription and for navigating your EMR using voice commands or shortcuts. iScribe supports 35+ medical specialties and works with virtually any EMR (PC and Mac-based).

Enjoy Unprecedented Mobility and Productivity

Want to dictate while you're making rounds or in transit? Use your iPhone as a recorder so you can capture clearer, more detailed patient assessments on the go. Maximize time savings through optional iScribe Services to edit and post your dictations to the EMR.
